Airisun Wonderli

Topic: The Russells of Swannanoa: Philosophical Blueprint
'The Russell Educational Perspective for the New Earth'

About this talk:

Following intense study of the Russell Cosmology and research into her newly published work, Swannanoa Palace: A Pictorial History- Its Past and People, Airisun has begun to speak and revive the inspired work of Walter and Lao Russell. In this presentation, Airisun shows how the Russells' perspective on education (especially in regard to the Arts and Sciences) can help release each child and individual's creative inspiration and inner learning. She will share how the Russells' own early education influenced their philosophical ideas, as well as Dr. Russell's authorship of children's books, illustrations, and child portraiture. His 1937 educational Prospectus for Swannanoa contained an early blueprint for their later establishment of The University of Science and Philosophy. Through exploring the Russells' profound lives and writings concerning present public education and their progressive promotions of creative expression and character, Airisun will convey how they set an example and put forward a Living Philosophy for developing the genius and purpose in each person.

Elaine Stevens-Parke, MBA, CS, CM, NSA

Topic: The Age of Character Club...then and now

'The expansion of Russell cosmogony to worldwide compassion'

About this talk:

In this lecture you will learn how, without special knowledge or powers, YOU can EASILY participate daily, in the dissemination of worldwide character and compassion that Lao & Walter Russell so deeply desired. Lao knew in her time, that her "Age of Character Clubs" was "her best shot" - but she also knew that it wasn't enough to go global. She knew a strategic messaging plan was needed, that could and would take the essence of their wisdom to all the corners of the earth.

When formulated by Walter Russell, his "Cosmogony" was a new concept of the universe, that explained the relationships between matter and energy, and between electricity and magnetism". However, the Russell's works were compiled before we had the technology to engage his Cosmogony to disseminate their truths world-wide. Then, the Russell truths were printed and disseminated only as matter - in the form of books.

This is the humble presentation of just such a strategic plan to engage the tools of Walter's entire cosmogony to easily inspire and motivate each of us and all the people of our world into the age of character of Lao's and Walter's dreams and desire.... One month at a time.
